A town for all seasons

Rothenburg is a delight at any time of year. In summer, nights are long and warm; in winter, the snowtops turn topsy-turvy into a living Christmas card. In spring, fresh flowers add color to the old world walls. In fall, the mellow days herald the grape harvest in the local vineyards. Rothenburg offers much more than pretty houses and medieval walls. An array of museums provides a time machine that takes visitors back through the ages. Have you ever wondered how Christmas traditions began? Find out at Käthe Wohlfahrt’s German Christmas Museum, with over 6000 inhabitants, Rothenburg is one of the largest cities of the Franconian region. Along with Nuremberg, Rothenburg is one of the most important cities in Germany. The city celebrates every year the medieval event of a Christmas market. Käthe Wohlfahrt, Rothenburg’s famous Christmas store, expanded its collection of wonderful old Christmas tree decorations, cribs, and antique toys. The town’s cobblestone lanes have welcomed kings and emperors, pilgrims and travelers through picturesque lanes. And it is just a couple of places away from the Romantic Road (Romantische Straße) and the Castle Road (Ritterstrasse) as well as the Dinkelberg mountain. When you visit the castle road, you will find the village Dinkelsbühl. With lovely old country inns, perfect for exploring by bicycle or walking through picturesque lanes and pretty villages – ideal for a walking trip or a bike tour. Rothenburg is a great destination for pilgrims and history lovers as well as for golfers and those who enjoy a more relaxed holiday.
