When you are in danger and feel afraid, your body automatically produces a chemical, called adrenalin, in your blood. ① With adrenalin in the blood system, you actually feel stronger and are ready to fight. ② However, when you are absolutely terrified, your body can produce too much adrenalin. ③ When this happens, your muscles become very hard and you find out that you can't move at all. ④ That's why you do exercise to build up your muscles. ⑤ You are so frightened that you become like a stone.

23. 다음 글에서 필자가 주장하는 바로 가장 적절한 것은?

The foods we eat lead to our well-being. However, if we eat too much, the extra food turns to fat and is stored in our bodies. If we overeat regularly, we may become obese. Obesity refers to having too much fat in our body. It has many serious long-term influences on our health, and it is the second leading cause of death in the United States. More than half of Americans are overweight—including at least 1 in 5 children. Therefore, it is essential to control the amount of food we eat for our well-being.

[24 ~ 29] 다음 글의 빈칸에 들어갈 말로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

24. Scientists want to know what affects our personality. They study pairs of identical twins who grew up in different surroundings, like Jim Springer and Jim Lewis. These twins help scientists understand the connection between environment and biology. Researchers at the University of Minnesota studied 350 sets of identical twins who did not grow up together. They discovered many similarities in their personalities. Scientists believe that personality characteristics such as friendliness, shyness, and fears are not a result of environment. These characteristics are probably _____.

* identical twins: 일란성 쌍둥이

- ① inherited ② valuable ③ controlled
- ④ learned ⑤ changeable

25. We know that humans have five basic senses. Those five senses are: sight, hearing, smell, taste, and touch. There also seems to be another—_____. People with this sense say that they are able to predict the future, sense spirits, and even read others' minds. We have experienced dreams, visions, or unexplained feelings which tell some future events. We sometimes sense a spirit or presence of something or someone, too. Although scientists simply can't explain these things, they happen to many people. That is one of the reasons why we can't ignore this sense.

- ① common sense
- ② moral sense
- ③ sense of space
- ④ sixth sense
- ⑤ sense of art

26. I often hear students say that they have read certain books. But if I ask them some questions about the books, they don't answer or they only repeat what somebody else has said about those books. I'm so sorry for them. They haven't read those books yet. Reading is not just decoding the letters; it means _____. So while and after reading books, you should keep asking yourself what the author's main idea is and what your own opinion about that is. If you have been reading, it means you have been thinking.

- ① memorizing the whole book
- ② reading many book reviews
- ③ coming up with your own ideas
- ④ knowing the outline of a book
- ⑤ sharing your opinions with others

27. I've played the guitar for the past three years. Everyone is a bit different, but practice seems to work great. I play eight hours a day. I play for 45 minutes to learn some new techniques or just play for fun, and then I take a 20-minute break. I take my mind off of music completely and relax. When I go back to the guitar, I seem to play better and smoother. Remember, nothing is more important than practice, but you _____.

- ① also need a break
- ② should set up a goal
- ③ have to get enough sleep
- ④ should enjoy playing the guitar
- ⑤ need to know where to practice

28. Some animals can change the color of their bodies. The octopus is one of them. Usually, an octopus takes on the color of its surroundings. This is not so when it gets upset. It may get pale all over or turn brown or even purple. The octopus keeps on changing colors, one after another, until it calms down. So when you see an octopus under the sea, please check its color, though the chance for you to see one is very rare. If it is brown or purple, you'd better move away from it. When it goes back to normal, it _____.

[34 ~ 35] 다음 글의 주제로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

34. Although no studies have been able to show a clear link between laughter and pain, many patients have reported a decrease in pain after a good laugh. Some doctors claim the decrease could be linked to chemicals produced in the blood. Or patients might also feel less pain because their muscles are more relaxed, or they simply forget their pain for a while. Whatever the truth may be, there are many people who would agree with the Groucho brothers' claim that "A clown is like an aspirin."

- ① Training a clown
- ② Causes of laughter
- ③ Effective use of painkillers
- ④ Becoming humorous people
- ⑤ Effects of laughter on pain

35. Have you ever wondered how movies set in the winter can be filmed in the summer? The answer to this question is special effects. Special effects help make the movies seem more realistic. As an example, snow is made by machines to create the illusion of winter in Hollywood. However, the viewers have no idea that the snow in the movie isn't real. The 1946 holiday classic film, Wonderful Life, shows snow produced with special effects. The movie was actually filmed in the summer. Another example is rain, which is a bit more common than snow in Hollywood films. Rather than waiting around for the rain to fall, Hollywood creates its own.

The graph above shows the world's energy production using five primary fuels in the period between 1980 and 1990. ① Nuclear energy always took the smallest proportion among the fuels during these ten years. ② On the other hand, the proportion of crude oil energy was the largest for the same period. ③ All the fuels, except crude oil, showed an increase in production between 1980 and 1985. ④ Coal and natural gas were always over 50 quadrillion BTU for the whole period. ⑤ The amount of coal energy was three times as much as that of hydroelectric energy in 1990.

[39 ~ 40] 다음 글의 요지로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

39. Seat belts don't fit young children and babies. Shoulder belts don't properly cross their chest. Lap belts may not hold them in place. So you might think you can just hold children in a car. But when a car stops suddenly, the child's body keeps moving forward. You no longer hold just the child's weight. You also have to keep the child from flying out of your arms. This makes the child feel much heavier. It can feel as if the child weighs hundreds of pounds. That is why young children and babies should ride in child safety seats.

[41 ~ 42] 다음 글의 제목으로 가장 적절한 것을 고르시오.

41. Comets are usually fairly predictable. But a normally small, faint comet recently did something really odd. Last month, Comet 17P/Holmes suddenly grew 400,000 times brighter than normal. However, no one expected the comet to get especially bright. That's because, even at its closest, Comet 17P/Holmes is still twice as far from the Sun as the Earth is. So, it never gets much heat. Even more surprising, the comet's recent brightening happened five months after the comet was at its closest location to the Sun.

- ① Measuring Distance in Space
- ② Unusual Brightness of a Comet
- ③ History of Short Period Comets
- ④ Predicting the Return of a Comet
- ⑤ Comparing the Brightness of Comets

42. Isn't the Internet amazing? People can use it to find information. They can even play games. Actually, the Internet began in the 1960s. The United States government started it. The government wanted to connect computers in different places to share information. It was a new idea; people had not linked computers together before. The government had to figure out how. It took several years. Finally, four computers in different cities were linked together by phone lines. The computers shared information, and the Internet was born. Soon, more computers were added. Other groups wanted to join the Internet. Scientists linked up their computers, so did colleges and businesses. Later, people at home hooked up their computers, and the Internet became huge.

- ① Role of the Internet
- ② History of the Internet
- ③ Function of the Internet
- ④ Advantages of the Internet
- ⑤ Dangers of Internet Addiction

(A) There lived a man in Puerto Rico who had a wonderful parrot. The parrot was unique; there was no other like him in the whole world. (a) He could learn to say any word—except one. He could not say the name of his native town, Catano.

(B) Finally the man gave up. (b) He picked up the parrot and threw him into the chicken house. “You are even more stupid than the chickens,” he said. In the chicken house there were four old chickens, waiting to be killed for Sunday’s dinner.

(C) The next morning, the man went out to the chicken house. When (c) he opened the door, he was shocked by what he saw. (d) He could not believe his eyes and ears! On the floor lay three dead chickens. The parrot was screaming at the fourth, “Say ‘Catano’ or I’ll kill you!”

(D) The man did everything (e) he could to teach the parrot to say “Catano,” but he never succeeded. At first he was very gentle with the bird, but gradually he lost his temper. “You stupid bird! Why can’t you learn to say that one word? Say ‘Catano’ or I’ll kill you!” But the parrot would not say it. Many times the man screamed, “Say ‘Catano’ or I’ll kill you!” But the bird would not repeat the name.

Whales usually swim in small groups. However, on this day the number of whales swimming together was much larger. The exact number varied, but sometimes the group grew to more than a hundred whales. The whales were swimming together as they looked for one of their favorite foods—codfish.

After a while, the whales followed a group of codfish into the bay. But they took a big risk. The bay had ice all around it. Suddenly, the ice moved in and blocked their way out to the open sea. The whales couldn’t get out of the bay. They were _____!

All the whales now have to swim in a very small area that has no ice on it. It’s a very difficult situation for the whales. Whales breathe oxygen. If the ice moves closer and covers the water, the whales can’t come up to breathe. They won’t be able to get air! Will the whales be able to find air in time?
