Lesson 4. Change for the better (1)

Skeeter has just returned home after finishing college. One day, she meets her friends and is shocked to hear her friends discussing their project, the Home Help Sanitation Initiative.

Skeeter: "Sharing the toilet with colored people is very dangerous. They carry diseases. That’s why I’ve designed the Home Help Sanitation Initiative," says Hilly.

"The Home ... the what?" I ask her, hoping the maid serving us won’t hear our talk.

"It’s a bill that requires every white home to have a separate bathroom for the colored help," she simply answers as if that should be taken for granted. I can’t believe my ears. Why can’t black maids use the family bathroom while they care for the children?

I make a face at her, saying, "Maybe we ought to just build your bathroom outside."

Hilly considered the Home Help Sanitation Initiative abnormal for her family.

Skeeter frowned at the maid because she heard the conversation with Hilly.

Skeeter’s friends were shocked when they heard about the project, the Home Sanitation Initiative.

The Home Help Sanitation Initiative required African-Americans to install a separate bathroom in their own houses.

Hilly designed the Home Help Sanitation Initiative as a preventive measure for diseases.
