The lecture will start at 4:00 p.m. at the school library. After his lecture, you can ask him questions and take pictures with him. Also, ten lucky students will get a signed copy of his latest book. If you're interested, please come to the library and sign up as soon as possible. Thank you.
M: Attention, students. This announcement is to let you know that we will be expanding the school cafeteria next week. The expansion will begin next Monday and will take about two weeks. In the meantime, lunch will be served in your classrooms. We’re sorry for the inconvenience and thank you for your understanding. We know you’ll love the bigger and better remodeled cafeteria.

W: Hi, Inho. I asked you here because you seem to be struggling in math class.
M: Actually, I’m having a hard time keeping up with the math lessons.
W: Well, I think we can fix that.
M: Really? What do you suggest?
W: There’s an after-school math class beginning next week. That’ll help you.
M: Do you think I can handle that class?

W: Hello, Daehan Marathon Club. How can I help you?
M: Hi. The fall marathon race is still going to be held this October, right?
W: Yes, it's on October 8th.
M: Oh, good. I'm calling to register for the marathon.
W: Sorry, but the registration will not begin until tomorrow morning.
M: Really?
W: You can call to register tomorrow, but the line will be very busy. You can apply online as well.
M: I see. Thanks.

W: Today, I visited a part of the countryside famous for watermelons. The first thing I did there was eat fresh watermelon. It was the sweetest watermelon that I've ever tasted. Then, I went to the field and helped farmers harvest some watermelons. It was tiring but worth it because I could understand how hard the farmers work. In the evening, I sang a song for the elderly people at the community center. I think they really enjoyed my song.

M: Kelly, you speak Spanish really well, don't you?
W: Well, I guess so. Why?
M: I'm planning to go to Argentina this summer.
W: What? You didn't say anything about that before.
M: Yeah, but I was thinking about it for a long time. And I just decided to buy the ticket!
W: Wow, that'll be fantastic!
M: Yes, but I'm a bit worried because I don't speak Spanish.
W: If you can speak some Spanish, your trip will be much more interesting.
M: I agree. So, I was wondering if maybe you could teach me a little Spanish?

W: You want to start an English drama club with your friends. All of you like English and acting. You’re planning to take part in the school festival. However, to make an official club, you need a teacher advisor. You heard your English teacher, Mr. Han, is interested in drama and is not helping any clubs yet. You want to ask Mr. Han to advise your club. In this situation, what would you say to him?
M: Let’s think about things we throw away that can be recycled. We throw away plastic containers, soda cans, and a lot of paper, right? We also throw away some big things that are very bad for our environment, like tires and old cars. All of these cause pollution, and that pollution goes into our water, our air, and the ground! Please keep in mind not to throw away things that can be recycled so our world will be less polluted.

W: Hi, Mr. Smith. I was wondering if my classmates and I could use the gym on July 7th.

M: Let’s see. (pause) Yes, it’s available from 4:00 to 6:00 p.m. Is that okay?

W: That’s great.

M: What do you need it for, Jessica?

W: It’s for a dance we’re creating for a contest.

M: All right, let me write that down. How many people will be with you?

W: There’ll be 14 of us.

M: Okay, 14 people. And I’m sorry, what’s it for, again?

W: We want to create a dance for a contest.

M: Okay, the gym’s all yours on July 7th at 4:00 p.m.
W: A lot of my friends are unhappy with their bodies. They are all great but they think they are too short, too tall, too fat, or too skinny. I wanted to tell them that they are perfectly fine. I came up with a good idea of how to say they look good. I wrote encouraging notes and posted them on the mirrors in the classrooms. I hope my friends read my notes and feel good about themselves.

M: Question. What did the girl do to encourage her friends?

M: What do you think is needed to become a great leader? Although there are many characteristics that a good leader should have, the most important is having a positive attitude. This means that you need to stay positive, happy, and productive even when mistakes are made. It is important to look at the bright side of things. Your positive attitude directly affects people under your leadership.
