About Segoe MDL2 Assets

With the release of Windows 10, the Segoe MDL2 Assets font replaced the Windows 8/8.1 Segoe UI Symbol icon font. (Segoe UI Symbol will still be available as a "legacy" resource, but we recommend updating your app to use the new Segoe MDL2 Assets.)

Most of the icons and UI controls included in the Segoe MDL2 Assets font are mapped to the Private Use Area of Unicode (PUA). The PUA allows font developers to assign private Unicode values to glyphs that don't map to existing code points. This is useful when creating a symbol font, but it creates an interoperability problem. If the font is not available, the glyphs won't show up. Only use these glyphs when you can specify the Segoe MDL2 Assets font.

Use these glyphs only when you can explicitly specify the Segoe MDL2 Assets font. If you are working with tiles, you can't use these glyphs because you can't specify the tile font and PUA glyphs are not available via font-fallback.

Unlike with Segoe UI Symbol, the icons in the Segoe MDL2 Assets font are not intended for use in-line with text. This means that some older "tricks" like the progressive disclosure arrows no longer apply. Likewise, since all of the new icons are sized and positioned the same, they do not have to be made with zero width; we have just made sure they work as a set. Ideally, you can overlay two icons that were designed as a set and they will fall into place. We may do this to allow colorization in the code. For example, U+EA3A and U+EA3B were created for the Start tile Badge status. Because these are already centered the circle fill can be colored for different states.

Layering and mirroring

All glyphs in Segoe MDL2 Assets have the same fixed width with a consistent height and left origin point, so layering and colorization effects can be achieved by drawing glyphs directly on top of each other. This example show a black outline drawn on top of the zero-width red heart.

Many of the icons also have mirrored forms available for use in languages that use right-to-left text directionality such as Arabic, Farsi, and Hebrew.

Using the icons

If you are developing an app in C#/VB/C++ and XAML, you can use specified glyphs from Seogoe MDL2 Assets with the Symbol enumeration.

XAML

 Copy

<SymbolIcon Symbol="GlobalNavigationButton"/>

If you would like to use a glyph from the Segoe MDL2 Assets font that is not included in the Symbol enum, then use a FontIcon.

Copy

<FontIcon FontFamily="Segoe MDL2 Assets" Glyph="&#xE700;"/>

How do I get this font?

To obtain Segoe MDL2 Assets, you must install Windows 10.

Icon list

Please keep in mind that the Segoe MDL2 Assets font includes many more icons than we can show here. Many of the icons are intended for specialized purposes and are not typically used anywhere else.
