18. 밑줄 친 It(it)이 가리키는 것으로 가장 적절한 것은? [1점]

It is the direct link for a website that you would like to visit again. It comes in handy when you want to find a website quickly. The names and addresses of these sites are stored in a list in a menu at the top on your web browser. It saves you the trouble of typing in each web address perfectly and remembering the address each time. On your first visit to a website, you can set it. Then all you need to do is to go to it and click, and you'll be connected directly to that site.

- ① 블로그 ② 즐겨찾기
- ③ 브라우저 ④ 검색엔진
- ⑤ 하이퍼텍스트

19. 밑줄 친 She(her)가 가리키는 대상이 다른 하나는?

Malcolm's family flew to Scotland to see where their ancestors had come from. They took a ferry to Lewis Island, where Malcolm's grandmother had once lived with her family. There they found ① her old house, complete with its original furnishings. "You must be my relatives, too," said Mrs. Morrison, opening the door to their knock. "We are related to your aunt," said Malcolm. "② She was my grandmother," he added. "I remember your mother," Mrs. Morrison said to Malcolm's mother. "③ She was younger than I. In fact, you remind me of ④ her," she added. Mrs. Morrison showed the family the house and served them lunch. ⑤ She offered them haggis, and everyone enjoyed it.

The Roman rulers were wise in how they treated conquered people. ① Although they took some as slaves after a conquest, most of the conquered people remained free. ② They permitted them to follow their own religions and customs. ③ Generally, the Romans did not force their way of life on their conquered. ④ To worship Roman gods, the conquered people were forced to learn to speak Latin, the language of the Romans. ⑤ As long as there was peace, Roman governors did not interfere in the lives of their conquered.

21. 다음 글을 쓴 목적으로 가장 적절한 것은?

You do not appear to be a "Nervous Nellie" to me. I don't know about the insurance laws in Florida, but in my opinion driving a golf cart could be considered child endangerment. Your granddaughter may be the most well-coordinated child in the world, but accidents do happen, and golf carts should not be confused with go-carts, which are meant for children. In case of collision with another vehicle while your granddaughter operates the golf cart, place a call to your insurance agent and ask about the potential liability. The financial liabilities could be considerable, putting aside the possible injury to your granddaughter or others. They can be the safe guard for your grandchild.

* Nervous Nellie: 겁쟁이

- ① 회의 참석을 알리려고
- ② 계약 만료를 알리려고
- ③ 골프 모임에 초대하려고
- ④ 보험 상담을 권유하려고
- ⑤ 교통 법규를 개정하려고

22. (A) ~ (C)의 각 네모 안에서 어법에 맞는 표현을 골라 바르게 짝지은 것은?

Chickpeas grow up from 8 to 40 inches tall in height, (A) spread/spreading their branches in all directions. Some chickpea varieties have compound leaves and some have simple leaves. Because of its deep tap root system, chickpea can withstand drought conditions by (B) extracting/extraction water from deeper layer in the soil. Flowers which are born in groups of two or three are a 1/2 to 1 inch long and come in purple, white, pink or blue color depending upon variety. As the old saying goes, "Love will find a way." That has never been truer than in modern Saudi Arabia. In Saudi Arabia, ① almost all marriages are arranged by parents. And it's extremely difficult ② for men and women to meet people they aren't related to. So young people have turned to technology. Bluetooth, a high-tech wireless networking protocol, allows Saudi young people ③ to find dates. Bluetooth named after an ancient king who helped with communication between tribes ④ make individuals access information about strangers. Because of the way Bluetooth is designed, however, there is little the government can do to stop ⑤ its use.

24. Most of the larger cities in the world have grown without _____. London is such a city. Its streets zigzag, snake, and circle. There is no one but a veteran taxi driver who knows the whole of London. Before he gets his cabbie's license, he must first tour the city for months, street by street, then take a comprehensive examination to prove that he can find his way about. New York and Chicago grew in much the same way. They just spread out, pushed by the demands for residential, business, or industrial space. Like spilled water, they expanded in all directions. Today even a native-born New Yorker despairs of finding his way around Manhattan.

- ① blueprints
- ② water supply
- ③ complexity
- ④ financial support
- ⑤ social facilities

25. The water and nutrients are transported through the root hairs to the roots, and then up the stem of the celery through tubes arranged in bundles. How does the water flow upward through these tubes? You can prove this by putting some ink in a small glass of water and putting a straw into the water. Notice that the water inside it stays above the water in the glass as you lift up the straw. The water will rise even further if you put your finger on the opening at the top of the straw before you lift it. The tubes in a plant are like the straw. As water get used up in the leaves, the water in the tubes _____ . [3점]

- ① rises to replace it ② stops to absorb it
③ fails to transport it ④ circulates to dissolve it
⑤ evaporates to regain it

26. Although people usually look for medical treatment to aid their recoveries from illnesses, some research has shown that (a) _____ may play a more important part in the recovery. Those people who anticipate a medical procedure with fear do not seem to respond as well to their medical treatment as patients who feel confident about the procedure. Therefore, a cheery attitude in some way must help a person to bear up under the stress of experiencing medical problems. Doctors often do not wish to treat a patient who is too depressed. The doctors prefer to wait for their patient to cheer up before beginning any medical procedure. Doctors are aware that there is more to healing than pills and drugs.

- ① balanced diet ② patient's mood
③ family's support ④ timely medication
⑤ miraculous medicine

27. To observe the sun indirectly, I found two pieces of white cardboard—one for a projector and the other for a screen. I punched a pinhole in the center of the projector cardboard. I went into my backyard before the eclipse was supposed to peak. With my back to the sun, I held the projector in my left hand and the screen in my right hand. Keeping my eyes on the screen, I moved the projector until the sunlight came through the pinhole. There it was—an image of the eclipse! There were noticeable changes in the image with each passing minute. At first it looked like a cookie with a bite taken out of it. The bite grew bigger and bigger and the cookie smaller and smaller as _____ .

- ① the sun rises in the east
② the shadow eats into the sun
③ the sun is revolved by Saturn
④ the sky grows brighter and brighter
⑤ our eyes are getting smaller and smaller

28. 다음 글의 마지막에 나타난 Lesia의 심경으로 가장 적절한 것은?

[1점]

Lesia walked across Carsbad Beach toward Bruce Cartelli. For most of her life she had covered up her face with powder and makeup. Now, as she approached him, he'd see her true face, the real Lesia—not the painted mask she presented to the world. Fearing his reaction, she sat beside him. Then she lifted her face to the bright sunlight, exposing every line, every tortured ridge and bump. He gazed at her not at the scars but into her eyes. And for the first time Lesia believed that a man fully loved and accepted her. A few days later, on a garden not far from that beach, a soft breeze ruffled Lesia's flowing beautiful wedding dress.

- ① jealous ② nervous ③ horrified
④ delighted ⑤ embarrassed

29. 아이들 교육에 대한 필자의 주장으로 가장 적절한 것은?

Parents need to talk about right and wrong—that you don't lie, steal or look at another kid's paper. That you love your neighbor as yourself. And that when you don't follow these rules, you get punished. Unfortunately, punishment and guilt have gone out the window and been replaced with evil and blame. That's a shame because punishment of evil is crucial. Preparing a child for the SAT is easy. Preparing him or her to be a good person is our greatest challenge but we must start when they are young. We must teach goodness the same way we teach history and chemistry. If we don't, evil will triumph.

The title to this work by Munch is The Scream of Nature. The person in the ① foreground is in fact protecting himself from the scream of Nature. By placing his hands on his ② ears, the person is desperately trying not to hear this scream that is putting him in some kind of panic attack. Instead of creating a detailed face for the screamer, he designed its features to remain ③ simple. Munch used long ④ oval shapes for the eyes and mouth. The body of the screaming person is also depicted in ⑤ straight lines. It's as though these lines show the scream echoing through the world around the figure.

31. (A)~(C)의 각 네모 안에서 문맥에 맞는 낱말을 골라 바르게 짝지은 것은?

A meteorite is a natural (A) object/objection originating in outer space that survives a collision with the Earth's surface without being destroyed. While in space, it is called a meteoroid. When it enters the atmosphere, air (B) assistance/resistance causes the body to heat up and emit light, thus forming a fireball, also known as a meteor or shooting star. The term bolide refers to either an extraterrestrial body that collides with the Earth, or an exceptionally bright, fireball-like meteor, regardless of whether it ultimately (C) impacts/compacts the surface.

32. The popcorn ball is actually a product of the Nebraska weather. It supposedly invented itself when the weather was both hot and rainy. There was a mile strip of scorching sunshine and then a mile strip of rain. On one farm, there were both kinds of weather. The sun shone on this cornfield until the corn began to pop, while the rain washed the syrup out of the sugarcane. The sugarcane field was on a hill and the cornfield was in a valley. The syrup flowed down the hill into the popped corn and rolled it into great balls with some of them hundreds of feet high and looked like big tennis balls at a distance.

- ① origin of popcorn balls
- ② shapes of popcorn balls
- ③ key factors of corn farming
- ④ unique weather in Nebraska
- ⑤ relationship between weather and popcorn

33. Much of our living is spent acquiring and using money, which doesn't last. The stock market crashes. Prices go up. Thieves steal others' goods. Things wear out and break down, requiring us to earn and spend more money to replace what has been lost. The temporary nature of material wealth makes it a poor bargain in the search for security in an insecure world. Money is much better at saying goodbye than it is at sticking around. Where we lose our way is when money becomes the driving purpose of our lives. How tragic to live our entire lives, only to end them with nothing of eternal worth to show for our labors. It is much better to be rich toward spiritual awakening than to work for material wealth that can't last.

Similarly, we need peace in order to switch gears in our lives.

Peace is like the neutral gear on a car. (①) Without a neutral gear you cannot switch from a forward movement to a backward movement—at least not easily. (②) If you try switching from fast forward to a reverse, you will ruin your gears and other parts of your engine as well. (③) We should have peace to stop the momentum and dominance of the past. (④) Through peace you think creatively and determine the best decision. (⑤) So, not only is peace a most beautiful aspect of being alive, it's also extremely helpful in freeing us to choose the best alternatives at each and every turning point in our lives.

36. 밑줄 친 a machine에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하는 것은?

Scientists built a machine to better understand how the stomach works. They were able to design it using the strong plastic and metals able to withstand the stomach acids in the human gut. This artificial gut is slightly bigger than a desktop computer. The top half consists of a funnel in which food, stomach acids and digestive enzymes are mixed. Once this process is finished, the food gets ground down in a silver metal tube covered in a dark, transparent box. Software sets the parameters of the artificial gut—how long food remains in a particular part of the stomach.

37. Vidocq에 관한 다음 글의 내용과 일치하지 않는 것은?

Vidocq, whose real-life deeds made him the model for fictional detectives from Edgar Allan Poe to Agatha Christie, lived a life filled with adventure and accomplishment. There is also much of Vidocq to be found in the character of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's immortal Sherlock Holmes. He was a companion of thieves and murderers. In turn, he became an honest businessman, volunteer police spy and the first professional detective. The Sûreté, which he created in 1812 and headed until 1827, is the direct ancestor of the FBI and every other department of criminal investigation throughout the world.

39. Your thoughts and feelings usually dominate your perceptions of the outer world and so many of your actions. So, to stop the negative thoughts and feelings, start doing this simple exercise of watching your thoughts or feelings. Become familiar with your thinking and the different emotions you feel. Also, try to be aware of what your senses are understanding from the outer world. One more valuable practice is to strive to express your well-considered thoughts. In this way you will give your creative thinking a chance to make your acquaintance.

- ① 자신의 행동에 충실하라.
- ② 남을 배려하는 마음을 가져라.
- ③ 혼란스러운 상황을 절망하지 말라.
- ④ 외부의 정보를 적극적으로 수용하라.
- ⑤ 생각과 감정을 표현하는 다양한 노력을 하라.

40. In your letter, you wrote, "I wish I were older." Why are you in a hurry? If your wish were granted, you would soon want to be younger. Nothing he or she does will ever change that. Don't waste energy wishing for the impossible. Spend the time you have on learning, growing and enjoying what life has to offer now. John Adams once said, "Facts are stubborn things; and whatever may be our wishes... they cannot alter the state of facts." The fact is that you are the age you are. Take full advantage of that fact and use your precious time more wisely.

- ① Live in the present.
- ② Depend on your energy.
- ③ Spend your time dreaming.
- ④ Persistence makes troubles.
- ⑤ Nothing is more precious than future.

David Bordwell is a movie critic who writes about movies. He loves the crazy, exciting, vulgar confusion of (A) Hong Kong Cinema. He also knows how and why it works and explains it in words that the layman can understand. (B) Like American westerns, (C) Hong Kong action movies travel well because their common currency is basic emotions such as fear, anger, joy and sorrow. A theme in many Hong Kong historical movies is a desire for revenge, a universal feeling, (D) while Japanese historical films often focus on the two-way pull of duty and inclination; an idea that is remote for most modern audiences. (E) This is why Bruce Lee's films were international blockbusters, but Akira Kurosawa's never reached beyond the art-house circuit.

- ① (A) : topic of the paragraph
- ② (B) : the object of comparison to strengthen main idea
- ③ (C) : detailed explanation of main idea
- ④ (D) : the object of contrast to further illustrate main idea
- ⑤ (E) : reversal of main idea through restatement

43. It is not possible to stop the flow of water completely and the Canadian Falls have never been completely diverted or dried by man action. On March 29th, 1848 in the early morning, the water in the upper Niagara River stopped flowing, bringing to a stop the mills operating from the power of water. Only a trickle of water was finding its way down to the Falls. After investigating the river, they found the cause of the block to be ice at the mouth of the Niagara River by Lake Erie. Due to a severe winter and a North Westerly wind pushing the ice flow into the river, the phenomenon lasted for some 40 hours. Only after a shift of wind to the East did the ice jam let go and things returned to normal.

44. It has been a quarter century since women became the majority on college campuses and men are trailing women in more than just enrollment. Men also get lower grades than women. At elite institutions like Harvard and small liberal arts colleges like Dickinson College in Pennsylvania, more women are graduating with the honors degrees than men. Still, men now make up only 42 percent of the nation's college students. With sex discrimination fading and their job opportunities widening, women are much stronger at all levels of higher education. Since the process of human development crosses all borders, it makes sense that Europe, too, now has more women than men heading to college.

A tropical cyclone is made up of winds, storms and clouds. It rotates around an area of low atmospheric pressure. Tropical cyclones form in the tropics, a geographic area of Earth that is centered on the equator. They are different from other cyclonic storms because they get their energy from heat. When vapor condenses into water at very high altitudes, the process emits warmth. This warmth is what powers the tropical cyclone. The energy from the condensation causes wind speeds to rise. Then, the faster winds encourage more water to evaporate from the Earth's surface or oceans. The winds also blow upward, sending the new vapor high into the atmosphere.

As vapor condenses into water, more heat is _____ (A) _____, it makes the winds blow _____ (B) _____ in the tropics.

(A)

In the early 19th century, a young man in London aspired to be a writer. But everything seemed to be against him. He had never been able to attend school more than four years because his father had lost his job and couldn't pay his debts. So this young man often knew (a) the pain of hunger. Finally he got a job pasting labels on bottles in a rat infested warehouse, and he slept at night in (b) a dismal attic room with two other boys.

(B)

The praise, the recognition that he received through getting one story in print changed his whole life. If it hadn't been for that encouragement, he might have spent his entire life working in (c) rat infested factories. You may have heard of that boy. His name is Charles Dickens. Be encouraged to be an encourager and know that your simple uplifting words will cause a change that will greatly outlast and outweigh the sacrifice.

(C)

Under (d) these circumstances, he liked to express his thoughts in writing. But he had so little confidence in his ability to write that he sneaked out and mailed his first manuscript in the dead of night. Story after story was refused. Finally the great day came when one was accepted. True, he wasn't paid for it, but one editor had praised him. One editor had given him recognition. He was so thrilled that he wandered aimlessly around the streets with (e) tears rolling down his cheeks.

I sat waiting anxiously at my desk. It was almost time to leave school. That meant it was almost time to go on the bus. I hated the bus. Big sixth graders sat in the back. They always bullied us third graders. Butterflies began forming in my stomach as I quickly jogged to the bus. When I climbed the big, black steps onto the bus, I prayed that there would be an empty seat left up front; but there wasn't. Suddenly I spotted an empty seat. The only problem was that the seat was in the middle of the sixth graders. I sat back in my seat. None of them had noticed me yet. As we were getting off the highway, the boy sitting in front of me turned around. "Hey, what are you doing back here?" "I had to clean the chalkboard after school, which made me late, and there was nowhere else to sit by the time I got here." "I like your little baby overalls and your pink flowered shirt. Who picked them out for you? Your mommy?" I wished that someone would help me. By now, everybody in the back of the bus was quiet, waiting for the boy's next move. Or perhaps, they simply did not want to get involved. I had been so nervous for so long that I started to cry. I couldn't help myself. Just then, a tall blond-haired, blue-eyed girl wearing practically the same outfit as me sat down next to me. "You can stop crying now, it will be OK." She turned to the boy and said, "Stop picking on innocent little girls. She told you why she sat back here. As for the outfit, I'm wearing practically the same thing and I don't look like a baby, do I?" He opened his mouth to speak, but nothing came out. The rest of the bus ride home the girl and I became quick friends. When I got off the bus that afternoon, _____
